Recent Operations

By Paul Hardin

I've had that two day vacation I talked about last week. It was a nice while I was gone. During my vacation I attended Tallahassee at the annual convention of the Florida State Press Association. I didn't hear a speech made by a politician. They were ruled out by the general social. You know there were no politicians there and plenty of them. But President Sikes would introduce them and ask them to take a bow. He stressed the bow so emphatically that not one was contented to say a word. So it was newspapermen's convention. And that's what were accomplished.

Don Lochner, Clermont publisher, was selected to speak and he has a minimized job before him. That is if he does as good a job as Bob Sikes did in 1937. But, Don is a likeable chap and will take his job seriously, therefore, he is sure to make an excellent speech. He should have a little in that the editors of the state made one of the vice presidents of the organization. I hope it's not too much of a draw-back to the new president.

I knew something would happen if I left the Glades over the weekend. And sure enough it did. I carried my rabbit's foot to Lake Wales and I did. Then the next evening and Friday the Stuart gridders invaded this territory and walked the Blue Devils. It wasn't such a severe defeat—only 13 to 9. But, as far as the contest was concerned it well has been 13 to 9. But, goh, after all, the boys can't win all the games.

Last Home Game Ft. Pierce Tonite

The last home game of the Blue Devils 1937 football schedule will be played tonight at 8:15 in Lakefield in Pahokee when the Fort Pierce high school eleven appears in the Glades. Hobson has put his men through strenuous training this week after the defeat last Friday night at the hands of Stu-

170 Cars Move Out During Week With Prices Still Good

Movement Off 11 Cars As Compared To Last Week

During the past seven day period 170 cars of beans moved out for northern markets over the Florida East Coast railway. Several thousand cars have been moved by truck but there is no way to estimate the number. The 170 cars during the past week bring the total carload shipments for the season 6,032. This week's movement was off a little as compared to last week when 181 cars were sent out.

The price has held up remarkably well and growers are coming out of the red daily. Prices have fluctuated all the way from $1.20 to $1.60 per bushel, depending on quality and quantity of offerings. However, to say that growers are receiving profitable returns on their beans in line this week as it has been since the opening of the season. The Pahokee price is now $1.40 per bushel, many markets since the market has held as firm as it has been since the first shipments went out.

A slight frost on Monday night of this week did little damage. It hit at spots. One ten acre plot was damaged with frost. Growers have been warned to look out for a frost tonight but yesterday's sudden change in weather causes growers to believe that a frost will hit tonight.

Shippers and their origin for the past week were as follows:

November 12th—South Bay 2 beans, Belle Glade 13 beans, 2 mixed, Cardwell 1 bean, Pelican Lake 1 beans, Canal Point 2 beans, Belle Glade 15 beans.

Fabrics safety came in the fourth quarter after they had run out of their own landing field there by Healey's own hand.

Healey punt to Pahokee's 12-yard strip, and on the next play Boynton faded back, passed to his right and got down to his left end, from where he ran the ball about 15 yards to Pahokee's ten-yard stripe. Hesley, on the next play, cut off his right tackle to the final stripe.

The conversion was made on a pass from J. Arnold to E. Arnold, stopping the Stuart scoring.

Hunters Prepare For Opening Of Season Saturday

Marsh Buggies" Being Built and Repaired for Season's Trips

If you've never seen a "marsh buggy" you've got something coming to you. There are several of them in the Glades and in the Everglades region this season. That is they were here—big, but all of them will be found deep in the Everglades where they have been led to transport hunters and equipment for the opening of the hunting season tomorrow.

For the past month blacksmiths have been busy converting Model A and Model T Fords into "marsh buggies." So, if you happen to see one, look it over like a Model T with what's off of a Model T, thinking nothing of it. It's just another of those contraptions built especially to travel through the swamps of the Big Cypress. They are geared with a powerful motor for the engine and a large propeller for the propeller.

The different types of licenses and the cost of each are as follows: resident county—license, $1.25; resident other than home county, $1.25; resident state, $2.50; resident state, $2.50.

For the first 10 days of the season, $1.50. License for taking furbearing animals range upward from $3.25 to $10.00. All these prices include the judge's fee. A full report of game killed last season.

Wanna-Go Hunting? Geiger'll Take You

If you want to go hunting, deep in the Everglades and are in a hurry, then you're in luck. There is a short, the best thing you can do is to see Zelotti Arden Geiger in Pahokee. When it takes truks and cars days to get into the deepest parts of the Everglades, Geiger has down there in a few minutes from Pahokee. He has his own private landing field there. It is located about the only dry spot in the section.

Healey's landing field there by Healey's own hand.

WHERE ACCIDENTS HAPPEN

HOMES.—Strangely enough home leads all other places as a cause of fatal accidents. Last year, there was a third of all accidental deaths resulted from houses under the family roof. And falls lead as the cause of accidents in the home.

If you are surprised to learn that home produced the greatest number of fatal injuries, hold on to your chair. The chief offender among the rooms in the house is the fallen, according to the bedroom. You can charge 39 per cent of all home falls to this room. Darkness is the chief menace in the bedroom. This calls for light controls convenient to the bedside. They more easily operated the better.

Perhaps a light could be made that would light automatically when anyone got out of bed. Can you invent one?—there's money in it if you can. And what odds that most people can afford.

The living room is the second most dangerous spot in the house—accounting for about 21 percent of all fatal falls. In this room, the tendency to fall is due to wandering in the dark because of badly arranged light controls there exists a major source of danger, the loose rug on the slippery floor. Now, if you can find a way to keep rugs from slipping—their money in it for you. Manufacturers will snap up your invention.

And so it goes. Naturally, we think of car accidents when we think of the death toll of our nation. And accidents on the highway do run home accidents a close second.

WILCOX ANNOUNCES

Congressman J. Mark Wilcox today announced his candidacy for the United States Senate against Claude Pepper in the forthcoming May 1938, primary. The announcement means a battle such as Florida has not witnessed in many a year, a veritable finish fight of plants.

It is a contest between Senator and Representative in Congress.

To find a similar duel, that of Congressman unseating a Senator, the history beyond the days of veterans Duncan U. Fletcher and Park Trammell, both deceased.

Congressman Mark Wilcox needs no introduction to the Sentinel—Florida history, beyond the days of veterans Duncan U. Fletcher and Park Trammell, both deceased.

Wilcox is taking on a tough customer in Claude Pepper who prides his friends say he did—and was elected without opposition upon another occasion. Furthermore, Pepper is a fluent talker with a gracious manner who knows his audience and can make his "sales pitch" without actually kissing the baby. He too has been shalling the woods during the past few weeks as he anticipated some thing was going to happen, and his friends of aid to little business and to farmers have not hurt any.

In Congress the doughty West

Palm Beach citizen immediately had himself felt, by voice, judgment, independence, the purest of all qualities. He has had great influence with his friends, particularly with the newspaper men, uninterrupted by, pratorial southerners talked newspapers and newspaper problems to their hearts' content.

Gilbert Freeman and his wife have been a good influence in the newspaper field, and the administration has noted the influence of the new and district.

It has been for the measures he has taken that he is best known as the "one man's prophet."

Supreme Court change. He has stormed and shayed bureaucracy.

Federal assumption of state's rights, centralization of government, and so forth. Most of his actions have been in the interest of the Democratic party and will continue in the future as will the past to support those measures of my party and vigorously oppose those which are in variance with those principles."

It is too early to comment a great state is excited, a powerful office is involved, the press will be alert and watchful, and ought for appropriations for the new and district.

Florida voters for the most part will keep an open mind on this race until after the special session is over and perhaps until the return of the new Congress.

The work of these men will be watched closely by people to see which is keeping close to his heart. Both of them are good speakers.

Both have been in the interest of the new and district.

Wilcox has represented the Fourth

District in the lower House in recent years.

His candidacy brings him into conflict with Senator Charles

Pepper, aggressive young politician of Tallahassee, who almost won the election by death of Senator

Fletcher, following Attorney General Lottin's brief filling of that place by appointment.

The situation brings seeing as that Florida not only will have a new and district representing them, but that they will witness a campaign harking back to those early political struggles when the United States was young and the world was new.

It is taken for granted that a third candidate will make his appearance but one never knows strategy in a great and promised campaign sometimes takes a peculiar turn.

A page could be written around this pair of antagonists, speculation would have no limitation.

Senator Pepper is as uncomfortable with his own party as he is with the other.

He has not known defeat but he has been beaten five years ago. Both have not known defeat.

Both are able thinkers, men of capacities, and of charming address.

Division of political opinions on leading national issues is evident, no doubt, as the chief point about which the campaign will wage.

What takes place at Washington between now and the primary election late spring will decide the outcome of the nomination.

Wilcox has represented the Fourth District in the lower House in recent years.

He has not known defeat but he has been beaten five years ago.

Both are able thinkers, men

of capacities, and of charming address.

It is highly possible that the position of these two candidates will be weakened or strengthened respectively as pending or new legislation is invoked or defeated at the special and regular sessions of the legislature in the meantime.

The most recent campaign should be a choice one of the highest
